Teaneck, NJ (March 8, 2017) – Hanwha Techwin America, a leading supplier of video surveillance and security products, is introducing their advanced web site (www.hanwhasecurity.com) with new and improved features to aid and enhance the visitor experience.

The new web site has a significantly improved, aesthetically clean, visual design that makes navigation simple and intuitive. User friendly upgrades include a direct product comparison feature and an attribute filtering capability for specific product category selection (IP cameras, NVRs, etc.) To further enhance the visitor experience, the new web site is packed with additional resources such as whitepapers, brochures, press releases and videos.

“The enhanced website redesign is part of an ongoing commitment to improve our customer’s experience and interaction with our company,” said Miguel Lazatin, Director of Product and Channel Marketing, Hanwha Techwin America. “The user interface and design make it easy for customers to navigate our website, and to locate important information quickly and easily including data sheets, CAD drawings, manuals and latest firmware versions.”

The new website is a responsive web design that allows desktop webpages to be viewed in various layouts based on screen size, platform and orientation. The view is optimized based on the size of the device one is using, and scales extremely well with mobile devices including tablets smart phones.
